Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parent et al. in view of Spehar et al.

Parent et al. shows a catch plate having a yoke 65; inserts 10 that can be of different shapes and sizes as noted in column 4, lines 34-45; cradle sections seen in Figure 1 that engage the nozzle; C-shape discussed in column 4, lines 29-31 (and U-shaped as the perspective changes as the dispenser is looked at from different angles); and the peripheral track is the edge of 10. Parent et al. lacks the dual cartridges and the tongue/groove track. Spehar et al. shows dual cartridges 15, 16 and a tongue/groove track 32, 36. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the dual cartridges and the corresponding securing device as taught by Spehar et al. on the device of Parent et al. in order to dispense products that should not be mixed until time of dispensing (i.e. multi-component adhesives that cure when mixed).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claim 6 is allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 8/26/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant contends that the Parent et al. patent shows a retrofit friction pad, not an insert. While called something different by Parent et al., it is equivalent in structure to the insert of the instant invention and is clearly capable of performing the same function. Applicant further contends that Parent et al. does not show a device for a dual cartridge system. This is addressed by the combination with Spehar et al. Applicant also contends that multi-sized catch plates are not shown by Parent et al. As repeated above from the original rejection, the cited passage in Parent et al. discusses inserts of differing sizes. Applicant contends that proper motivation for combining has not been provided. Applicant has not addressed why the motivation provided by the examiner is deficient; therefore, the arguments regarding motivation are moot.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
